Re: The Culver Studios 9336 Washington Blvd

Per our recent conversation regarding the health of the street trees on Van Buren place during and post construction of the adjacent culver studios parking structure, I can confirm that the studios decision to relocate the subterranean levels of the parking structure 15' in bound from the property line creates a situation where it is extremely unlikely there will be any root damage due to excavation and provides the trees their greatest chance of survival

Thank you,
