Joint Action Items

Item J-1

Receive Developer Proposal Presentations for Development of 9300 Culver Boulevard (Parcel B).

Discussion ensued between the City Council and staff regarding procedures and the time frame for staff recommendations and for City Council consideration.

John Nachbar, City Manager, introduced the item.

Sol Blumenfeld, Community Development Director, provided a summary of the material of record.

October 3, 2011

Item J-1

At this time, Francine Tolkin Cooper, Tolkin Group, introduced the principals of the group, provided background on the company and discussed previous projects.

Peter Tolkin, Tolkin Group, presented their proposal for Culver X, the development concept for Parcel B.

Jonathan Tolkin, Tolkin Group, indicated that the Tolkin Group was committed to the project through design and long-term ownership of the property.

Councilmember Weissman raised questions to ask all proposed developers regarding experience in building and leasing office and retail properties; financing for the project; experience procuring construction loans if one is necessary for the project; the number of retail leases negotiated and executed over the years; the number of previous development projects; how many have been retained; whether there are plans to retain ownership of this project; plans for sustainable development; what has been done to make the project green; how the project addresses Redevelopment Agency requests to provide additional parking at the site and in Downtown Culver City; what has been done to ensure the long-term future of the project; and what plans are in place if proposed tenants leave after several years.

Discussion ensued between the City Council, staff and Tolkin Group representatives regarding the maximum height of the proposed project; opportunities for developers to address questions from the City Council; ensuring a fair process for all participants; previous mixed-use projects and developments; references; leasing track record; financing; maintaining ownership; use of space for community events; liability issues; programming; access to stores on the ground-level; and active involvement in day-to-day management

Vice Mayor Malsin invited public comment.

The following members of the audience addressed the City Council:

Marla Koosed asked about tenant criteria and the tenant mix on the lower level.

Jonathan Tolkin, Tolkin Group, discussed prospective types of tenants; design; signage; outside seating; ceiling height; assistance with developing business concepts; and creating a unique complimentary business environment.

Francine Tolkin, Tolkin Group, discussed their experience; leasing; and leasing experts on their team.

Ross Hawkins expressed concern with blocking the view of The Culver Hotel or The Culver Studios.

Donna LeBlanc expressed concern that the neighborhood would be overwhelmed with cut-through traffic created by the project.

Meghan Sahli-Wells, Downtown Neighborhood Association, appreciated the efforts of the Tolkin Group to communicate with the neighborhood; expressed concern with the process; she suggested holding a workshop to discuss the matter; and she felt the 3-minute limit constrained the process.

Discussion ensued between the City Council and staff regarding opportunities for additional public input.

John Byers asked about square footage; maximizing the current entitlement; parking on the site; proposed density and usage; and he made suggestions to improve the public process.

October 3, 2011

Gary Silbiger expressed concern with the process and for those who were unable to attend the meeting; felt information should be more accessible to the public; discussed the democratic process; questioned when the full, written information would be available to the public or whether a public records request was necessary; he questioned the procedure for changing entitlements; when a list of previous developments by the developers would be available to the public; and when the final date was to submit written input.

Discussion ensued between the City Council, staff and Mr. Silbiger regarding the Brown Act; having enough information available to have a meaningful discussion; the community meeting; clarification that the City Council had made selections in closed session that were ratified in open session; clarification that this is the start of the public process with six more weeks for public comment before staff makes a recommendation; the previous meeting regarding the request for qualification; a suggestion to post the request for proposal information on the website; and clarification that the contents of the proposal would be posted on the website including the responses to the request for qualifications.

Angela Vianelli questioned whether the spaces would be leased before the project started.

Michelle Weiner expressed concern that her comments were premature but that there would not be another opportunity for public input; she did not feel like the proposed project was of the same scale or character of the existing downtown area; she questioned why such a large project was necessary; and she asked about the possibility of reducing the carbon footprint.

Councilmember Armenta expressed concern with the perception that there was not adequate time to address all questions and concerns, and he suggested that once all the projects were presented, that there be another meeting to answer questions raised and allow the community a chance to ask additional questions.

October 3, 2011

Discussion ensued between the City Council and staff regarding concerns about the process; assurances that if more meetings are necessary, they will be held; a suggestion to wait until after the last presentation to evaluate what meetings are needed; alleviating public concerns; assurances that the project will be thoroughly considered; and consensus that an additional meeting would be planned.

Item J-1

Vice Mayor Malsin discussed procedures for public input.

At this time, Joseph Miller, The Runyon Group, provided background on himself and The Runyon Group.

Trevor Abramson and Joseph Miller presented designs for The Paseo project, their concept for the Parcel B development.

Discussion ensued between the City Council and Runyon Group representatives regarding prospective tenants; letters of intent; the Request for Proposal (RFP); maximum height of the project; the size of the arts building; use of the Arts Fund; entitlements; writing a commitment regarding the art center; ensuring a zero cost impact; maintenance of the art center; and connecting Paseo to Town Plaza.

October 3, 2011

Vice Mayor Malsin invited public participation.

The following members of the audience addressed the City Council:

Meghan Sahli-Wells expressed concern with the amount of space given to the cars facing Culver Studios.

Bryan Besser expressed support for the Paseo project and discussed the unique nature of the City.

Jennifer Yee expressed support for the Paseo project.

Mike Hong expressed support for the Paseo project.

Mike Miller expressed concern with the process and the forum; pointed out that the people of Culver City are the ultimate decision makers; he wanted to see a Town Hall where the developers present to residents without the City Council and staff present; and he questioned the rush to develop the property after ten years.

Vice Mayor Malsin asked that developer information be available to residents so they could set up their own meetings with the developers.

Marla Koosed asked about the mix of restaurants, retail and office space; leasing for the previous development on Duquense Avenue; and funding for the proposed arts center.

Renato Romano wanted to ensure that parking would be adequately addressed; discussed preexisting parking issues; suggested that the roof be a "green" roof; discussed the constant cleaning of the Town Plaza; questioned the quality of materials used; he wanted to see variety in tenancy; and he suggested that a developer representative from each group be available to residents for a month so that residents can understand the projects.

October 3, 2011

Rich Waters asked about the carbon footprint of the projects; use of photovoltaics; the amount of walkable space; restrictions of the RFP; and he expressed concern with alleged previous broken promises by the Runyon Group.

Vice Mayor Malsin suggested that developers be asked about the amount of pedestrian space available and he noted that the City required that all new commercial developments above 10,000 square feet install photovoltaic system.
