Action Items

Item A-1

(1) Discussion Regarding Specific College University Degrees Included on Classification Specifications and (2) Direction to Staff as Deemed Appropriate

Amy Webber, Human Resources Analyst, provided a summary of the material of record.

Discussion ensued between staff and Commissioners regarding the number of people with higher than the required degrees; combination language; typical ways of obtaining knowledge, skills and ability; training and experience in lieu of a degree; concern with precluding a qualified applicant without the degree from applying; adding language to indicate: "Although not required, a degree in the required field is desired"; related fields vs. closely related fields; staff agreement to remove the word closely; appreciation to staff for their efforts; and separating the degree requirement from years of experience requirement.

Amy Webber, Human Resources Analyst, read additional wording: "Any combination equivalent to the training and experience that could likely provide the required knowledge, skills and abilities would be qualifying. A typical way to obtain the knowledge, skills and abilities would be: 1. Your degree from an accredited college or university, when there is a specific type of degree, use preferably in, and state the preferred degree type, or related/applicable field of study. 2. A minimum number of years of experience in the field or a related field that translates to the requisite knowledge, skills and ability."

Additional discussion ensued between staff and Commissioners regarding requirements of other organizations; requirements of certain professions; consideration of adding language to include: "with coursework in" rather than a degree; and flexibility with requirements.
