Ken Mand discussed the specific haul route; administrative approval of an alternate haul route to allow the construction job to also use Washington and National; excluding the alternate haul route from the TUP; support for shortening the length of the project; and he indicated that one truck every six minutes crossing Ince up to Culver should not be a problem for residents.

Adoption of an Ordinance Amending Title 17, Zoning, of the Culver City Municipal Code (CCMC), Section 17.210.015, Table 2-2 and Section 17.400.095 as it Relates to the Standards and Requirements for Accessory Dwelling Units (P2018-0052-ZCA)

Michael Allen, Planning Manager, provided a summary of the material of record.

Discussion ensued between staff and Council Members regarding the change to clarify the staff interpretation of independent living and clarification of setback requirements; the sentiment and quantity of correspondence received; contested items; owner occupancy; Accessory Dwelling Units (ADUs) on hillsides; ADU size; the one-bedroom maximum; the affordability component; lot-size; diverse concerns raised in correspondence received; support for compliance with the spirit and intention of the state mandate; the desire for less restriction; procedures for moving forward; the need to bring the item back for first reading if significant changes are made; framing of the issue; the need to bring the item back within the housing discussion; the inability to guarantee affordability without a covenant; addressing demand by increasing the supply; creating other housing opportunities; the larger community conversation about affordability and ADUs; land value; having the item return to the City Council as an affordability issue as soon as possible; code amendments; ensuring that the community conversation takes place before considering any code amendments; the Short Term Rentals subcommittee; use of short term rentals to supplement income; the number of ADUs that may not contribute to affordability; incentivizing the use of ADUs for affordable housing stock; concern that the more ADUs are limited, the fewer ADUs will be available; creating a survey on how many ADUs are possible in the City; City responsibilities with state compliance; exercising a measure of control; minimum standards; neighborhood compatibility requirements; and the Single Family Design Study.

Mayor Small invited public comment.

The following members of the audience addressed the City Council:

Diana Coronado, Building Industry Association, provided background on the organization; shared comments on the ADU ordinance; expressed opposition to the requirement that the property owner either live in the primary residence or in the ADU itself; concern with negative affects to ADUs as tools to address the affordability crisis; and she felt that concerns with potential negative affects to the quality of low density neighborhoods were unwarranted.

Ken Mand discussed the critical need to add to housing stock in the region; concern that not allowing ADUs on garages would prohibit building of ADUs on many properties; concern that the five foot setback for the second story over garages would make projects cost prohibitive; concern with making things less private by creating a balcony space; requiring high windows to address privacy issues; and he asked that section k3 be struck as written.

Krystal Navar, Modative, felt the restriction that the property owner live on site would discourage the building of ADUs across all residential zones; discussed impacts of ADUs on neighborhood character; and concern that units would be used for short term rentals.

Dylan Gottlieb felt that the proposed restrictions would discourage the building of ADUs and benefit developers; discussed the need to increase affordable housing in the City; supply and demand; creating density to stymie growing rental costs; he wanted to see restrictions eased to match those of Los Angeles; and he asked that the City follow the state model.

Antonieta Villamil discussed ways to create a room of her own to write poetry in; her previous experience with code enforcement; short term rentals; alleviating the daily commute of the workforce of Los Angeles; consideration of pre-existing conditions; people who flip houses; land value; and she wanted to see the City encourage affordable housing.

Michelle Weiner discussed the 600 square foot restriction; establishing a ratio rather than a set number; creating a formula that matches the size of the lot; addressing Planning Commission concerns; the feeling that allowing people to follow the state law with ADUs would reduce mansionization; and whether any studies have been done regarding size of ADUs vs. affordability.

Disa Lindgren thanked staff and the City Council for their work on ADUs which she felt would increase the housing supply and help affordability, and she expressed support for flexibility in the process.

Jeff Cooper discussed massing on the property lines; shadowing and blockage of light; section k, number 3 and ADUs on garages abutting the property lines; he expressed concern with going against the hard work of the community; he did not want to see Culver City be like Los Angeles; he expressed support for the limitations; suggested that people considering ADUs were looking for a source of income and that the affordability problem would not be solved; he discussed re-zoning on Venice Boulevard; increases to housing around Culver City; the community discussion on affordability; he encouraged the City to listen to the community; noted the need for a broader discussion; and he expressed concern with changing the integrity of the neighborhoods.

Kevin Lachoff expressed support for adopting the recommendations of staff and the Planning Commission and holding off on the recommendations for second story additions to garages; he suggested that most people who previously spoke regarding large homes, did not consider that the ADU topic would affect them with regard to size, scale, massing and setbacks; he discussed Neighborhood Design Guidelines; felt that the City would be acting prematurely to continue with section k3; asserted that building over a garage adjacent to the property line would be going against recent changes to rear yard setbacks; he indicated that residents had previously made known their feelings regarding size, massing and location; stated that new construction should be treated the same regardless of purpose; and he asked that section k3 be eliminated and that staff be directed to a larger discussion.

Mark Lipman clarified that his comments were his own; felt it essential to help existing homeowners to stay in the community, noting that new homes would maximize height and scale but house fewer people; he stated that ADUs create additional housing within the traditional architecture of the community; discussed incentives; he pointed out that $500,000 was being spent per affordable unit in each development; discussed out of scale exemptions being given to make bigger buildings in the middle of town; he suggested smaller incentives to homeowners similar to what the county did; and he felt it imperative that the owner-occupied requirement be maintained to keep speculators and developers out of the neighborhoods.

Discussion ensued between staff and Council Members regarding compliance with state law; the previous mansionization debate; concerns with massing on the property line; the need for public outreach and comment before agreeing to a second story on garages; the comment from Diana Coronado that most lots are prepared for duplex or triplex use; clarification that R-1 lots do not have infrastructure in place to support additional units; the Single Family Home Guidelines study; inviting people into the discussion; changing the character of the community; concern with unintended consequences; the need for additional study; clarification that the Planning Commission had accepted a recommendation from staff to rescind an existing right to put ADUs over garages due to resident feedback; previously vetted language regarding setback requirements; those concerned with banning ADUs above garages; evolution of the ordinance over the last year; the public process at the state level; the importance of passing the item to retain some control; defining affordable; the amount of public outreach to date; housing that is less likely to be expensive; enforcement issues with Airbnb; a suggestion to develop an accessory development manual to clarify the rules for residents; neighborhood specific, pre-approved ADU plans; development of an ADU financing program; consideration of minimum lot size, maximum square footage, number of bedrooms and owner occupancy; answering questions when the item is brought back for a fuller, deeper discussion; working to achieve balance; accelerating the process; proceeding on collateral issues with ADUs; work with John Kaliski Architects (JKA); creation of a form-based code; current code provisions; changing the metrics; mansionization guidelines; trading off the work scope; budget; timing; expanding the scope of work rather than having another RFP; the need to craft standards for R-2s; groundwork already done for R-1; the rapport between JKA and the community; and clarification on mandates from the state.

MOVED BY COUNCIL MEMBER LEE AND SECONDED BY VICE MAYOR SAHLI-WELLS THAT THE CITY COUNCIL: ADOPT AN ORDINANCE APPROVING ZONING CODE AMENDMENT P-2018-0052-ZCA AMENDING CULVER CITY MUNICIPAL CODE (CCMC), TITLE 17 - ZONING CODE SECTION 17.210.015, TABLE 2-2 - ALLOWED USES AND PERMIT REQUIREMENTS FOR RESIDENTIAL ZONING DISTRICTS AND SECTION 17.400.095, RESIDENTIAL USES - ACCESSORY DWELLING UNITS IN ORDER TO ALLOW ACCESSORY DWELLING UNITS IN COMPLIANCE WITH CURRENT STATE HOUSING LAW.

NOES: ERIKSSON

Council Member Eriksson declared that he had voted in opposition to the motion due to the need for discussion before the 15 foot setback for second stories is set aside.
