Community Conversation

The Culver City Parks, Recreation and Community Services Commission Hosts "Everyone Deserves to Feel Safe," a Community Conversation for Teens Led by Peer Educators from The Talk Project. The Talk Project is Sponsored by the National Council of Jewish Women | Los Angeles.

Chair Rickards commented on the PRCS Commission's commitment to hosting Community Conversations on topics of interest and importance to the Culver City community and mentioned the subject matter of some of the past Community Conversations. He introduced Commissioner Mohammed as one of the members of the Community Conversation Ad Hoc Subcommittee responsible for organizing the "Everyone Deserves to Feel Safe" Community Conversation.

Commissioner Mohammed gave a brief summary of the process of organizing the Community Conversation and explained its purpose. He then introduced Commissioner Amezola as the second member of the Community Conversation Ad Hoc Subcommittee. Commissioner Amezola read a statement emphasizing the importance of holding public discussions regarding sexual harassment and assault and educating the community on strategies for identifying and preventing such behaviors, including advocating for a culture of consent for youth. She welcomed everyone to the Community Conversation and requested that participants fill out the evaluation forms following the discussion.

Commissioner Mohammed thanked PRCS Department and City Attorney's Office staff for their assistance in developing and implementing the Community Conversation and acknowledged Commissioner Amezola for her work with him on the Ad Hoc Subcommittee. He mentioned the facilitators for the evening's discussion, Teen Peer Educators from "The Talk Project."

The Talk Project was created by the National Council of Jewish Women | Los Angeles Teen Advocacy Working Group. It is a peer-to-peer sexual violence awareness program which involves teen peer educators visiting various sites in Los Angeles to discuss consent, sex, and sexual violence with other teens.

Commissioner Mohammed introduced Ms. Ashley Cooper, Community and School Program Coordinator at the National Council of Jewish Women | Los Angeles. Ms. Cooper then introduced her colleague, Leah Knopf, The Talk Project Coordinator. The Teen Peer Educators came forward and introduced themselves and stated why they were having "The Talk."

Note: Due to the sensitive nature of the subject matter, detailed meeting minutes were not transcribed. To protect the identity of Community Conversation participants and to honor their stories, only this brief summary of the event is being entered into the public record.
