Public Hearing Item

Item PH-1

PC - Consideration of a Site Plan Review & Density and Other Bonus Incentives, to Allow Construction of a 104-unit residential mixed-use development with ground floor commercial uses at 12727 Washington Boulevard (Project)

Erika Ramirez, Current Planning Manager, introduced the item.

Jose Mendivil, Associate Planner, provided a summary of the material of record.

MOVED BY COMMISSIONER REILMAN, SECONDED BY CHAIR BARBA AND UNANIMOUSLY CARRIED, THAT THE PLANNING COMMISSION OPEN THE PUBLIC HEARING.

Kevin Read, Bastion Development, provided background on the company; expressed best wishes to Sol Blumenfeld on his retirement; discussed the history of the project; design iterations; work with the City to address issues; best addressing the site; the shared jurisdiction of the site spanning both Culver City and Los Angeles; density; height; massing; architecture; setbacks; materials; required open space; amenities; screening; the unit mix; floor plans; zoning and design; separation of distinct uses; retail; neighborhood serving uses; parking; ingress and egress; and sustainability features.

Chair Barba invited public input.

The following members of the public addressed the Commission:

Ilan Levin discussed new development that improves the area; concerns with traffic; and he asked about the mix of low-income units.

Arturo Levin expressed concern with height, density, massing, parking, and he noted the lack of guest parking.

Alex Tabrizi indicated that he was available to answer questions as the Traffic and Parking Engineer for the project.

Michael Miller discussed issues with trucks and deliveries related to the previous occupation of the site by the 99 Cent Store; the need to address ingress and egress issues; differences between the Los Angeles side and the Culver City side; and concern with the proposal for increased activity with limited access.

Joe Fuchs, Southwest Regional Council of Carpenters, discussed environmental impacts of the project; felt that the City should require that the project be built utilizing a local skilled and trained workforce; cited the California Workforce Development Board report entitled: Putting California on the High Road: A Jobs and Action Plan for 2030; the actions of other cities to adopt trained workforce requirements in their General Plan; minimizing Vehicle Miles Travelled (VMT); and he stated the project should not be considered a Transit Priority Project (TPP) because of the failure to demonstrate it as high transit priority and failure to mitigate for noise.

Arturo Levin questioned whether the project had made any mitigations to address energy and water consumption related concerns in the state and in Los Angeles with the increased number of units in the project.

Discussion ensued between project representatives, staff, and Commissioners regarding maneuverability of vehicles and deliveries with a neighboring property; lack of a loading dock for the 99 Cent Store; efforts to shield the neighborhood from the parking; internalization of loading; the renderings; maintenance; use of materials that blend with the adjacent buildings; agreement by project representatives to work with staff to tone down the colors; proposed alternative colors; aesthetics; finish type; a suggestion to provide a large mockup; the viability of taking the extra parking spaces off of ground level; ability to lease the space; the convenience of on-grade parking; HOV (High Occupancy Vehicle) spaces for employees; the Uber pick up area; bike racks; bike parking requirements for the Los Angeles part of the plan; flexibility; mixed use projects; clarification that the retail is located in Culver City but not in Los Angeles; ground floor retail; changes to the retail industry; opportunities to provide more on-street parking; EV (Electric Vehicle) charging stations; LEED (Leadership in Energy and Environmental Design) accreditation, qualification, and certification; costs; Reach Codes; all-electric construction; potential cost savings; all electric building operations and not relying on gas in the building; and future changes.

MOVED BY COMMISSIONER CARTER, SECONDED BY VICE CHAIR OGOSTA AND UNANIMOUSLY CARRIED, THAT THE PLANNING COMMISSION CLOSE THE PUBLIC HEARING.

Additional discussion ensued between staff and Commissioners regarding technical difficulties with the display; leveraging the state density bonus; issues related to joint jurisdiction; passive design; the need for more off-street bike parking for retail; the updated Housing Element; residential ground floor usage; support for going down to minimum parking levels to provide more bike parking; density along the corridors; transit-friendly development; perpetual affordability covenants; eliminating the concern about tenants from the decision-making process; the Sustainable Community Density bonus; adherence to requirements; efforts to decrease parking requirements; induced demand; changing the community feel; agreement by the applicant to work with staff regarding materials and color, as well as to convert one ground level commercial parking space to a short term, commercial bicycle parking space and one commercial basement parking space to long-term commercial bicycle parking space; and concern that the parking concessions did not go far enough.

MOVED BY COMMISSIONER REILMAN AND SECONDED BY VICE CHAIR OGOSTA THAT THE PLANNING COMMISSION APPROVE A SITE PLAN REVIEW SUBJECT TO CONDITIONS OF APPROVAL, ADMINISTRATIVE USE PERMIT AND ADOPT A SUSTAINABLE COMMUNITIES PROJECT EXEMPTION AND RECOMMEND CITY COUNCIL APPROVAL OF DENSITY AND OTHER BONUS INCENTIVES INCLUDING REVISIONS TO THE SITE PLAN REVIEW MATERIALS AS WELL AS THE BICYCLE PARKING CONFIGURATION.

THE MOTION CARRIED BY THE FOLLOWING VOTE:

AYES: BARBA, JONES, OGOSTA, REILMAN
NOES: CARTER

Item PH-2

PC - Consideration of a City-Initiated Zoning Code Amendment (P2022-0234-ZCA), Amending the Zoning Code as it Relates to Minimum Required On-Site Parking, Automated Parking/Parking Stackers, Bicycle Parking, and Loading and Providing a Recommendation to the City Council

Erika Ramirez, Current Planning Manager, introduced the item.

Gabriela Silva, Associate Planner, and Andrea Fleck, Planning Technician, provided a summary of the material of record.

MOVED BY COMMISSIONER REILMAN, SECONDED BY CHAIR BARBA AND UNANIMOUSLY CARRIED, THAT THE PLANNING COMMISSION OPEN THE PUBLIC HEARING.

Chair Barba invited public input.

The following members of the public addressed the Commission:

Bubba Fish, Advisory Committee on Housing and Homelessness (ACHH) Vice Chair, expressed appreciation to staff for their work on the zoning code amendment; discussed equity; the ACHH recommendation to abolish parking minimums and establish parking maximums near transit; City Council direction; the importance of establishing a parking cap; environmental and safety issues created by excess parking; the length of time for meaningful parking maximum options to be available;

developers catering to the top of the market; impacts to affordable housing; and he asked the Commission to move forward with passing the amendments.

Jeanne Black provided background on herself; discussed her mobility issues; maintenance of existing parking; reduced costs for new housing; those who do not drive being stuck subsidizing the cost of driving for those who do; gradual changes to parking in the City; application of rules to new development only; encouraging Accessory Dwelling Unit (ADU) construction; making it safe for those who choose alternative transit options; and she expressed support for adoption of the proposed resolution to reduce reliance on the automobile.

Carl Fleisher was called to speak but did not respond.

Kelly Kent expressed appreciation for the work put into the process; support for moving forward with the staff recommendations; and she noted the impact of parking on housing, climate, and quality of life.

Till Stegers commended staff for the recommendation; expressed support for the elimination of parking minimums; and wanted to see increased bicycle parking.

Carl Fleisher expressed appreciation to staff for creating the amendment and support for the recommendation.

MOVED BY COMMISSIONER REILMAN, SECONDED BY COMMISSIONER CARTER AND UNANIMOUSLY CARRIED, THAT THE PLANNING COMMISSION CLOSE THE PUBLIC HEARING.

Discussion ensued between staff and Commissioners regarding potential blind spots; unintended consequences; loading zone changes; non-residential uses; elimination of the exception allowing loading on the street; incorporating off-street loading requirements for residential projects into the amendment; further consideration of loading zone standards under a separate amendment; the goal of removing minimums to make projects more affordable and reduce the incentive to have vehicles on the road; the need to impose a minimum loading space requirement; impacts to larger housing projects; proposed loading requirements in the staff report; clarification that loading has its own section in the code; adding a provision to include an adequate loading space; discretionary cases; and thresholds for minimum loading requirements; and incorporating an amendment into the second phase when bringing maximums forward.

Additional discussion ensued between staff and Commissioners regarding the difficulty and necessity of working with parking minimums; determining the appropriate maximum number; concern with eliminating minimums altogether; providing a giveaway to some developers who will take advantage; pushing the burden of parking on to City streets and neighborhoods and off the site being developed; commercial and office projects; the profit incentive; maximizing the amount of rentable area; the recent vote to eliminate gasoline cars, but not all cars; concern with naivete in trusting developers and consequences for all citizens; the need to be realistic; 15 Minute Communities; City Council direction; Comprehensive Plans currently in effect; the ability to set future parking minimums in Comprehensive Plans; clarifying that minimum requirements do not apply to existing Comprehensive Plans; replacing language to indicate notwithstanding minimum requirements set forth in a Comprehensive Plan; notice and hearing requirements for modifications to approved Comprehensive Plans; City Council purview; appreciation for the work of staff; confirmation that the Commission recommendation to the City Council is on the actual ZCA; historical context of Commission recommendations; new viewpoints being brought into the Commission; support for increased bicycle parking; the need to provide protections; success with changes in other cities; proposed ZCA still allows parking or existing parking to remain the importance of sustainability; promoting decarbonization in building; removing parking minimums not seen as removing the carbon footprint of society; the small piece removed by eliminating parking minimums; hesitancy of the last applicant to remove parking; the feeling that change will be gradual; benefits for long-term developers; opposition from developers to parking maximums; building parking in order to get financing for projects; the belief that communities will feel impacts to affordability before impacts to parking; The Happy City by Charles Montgomery; the evolution of cities; things that impact carbon emissions; changing needs of the community and stakeholders; adding infill density; increasing walkability; reminder to those listening that this is eliminating minimums and doesn't mean that no one gets to build parking; the Culver Crossroads development; lookback conditions; onsite parking attendants; bicycle parking requirements; the Entitlement Review Process; the ability to require more; the staff recommendation to approve the resolution with recent revisions to include the additional bicycle parking requirements; and clarification that the loading requirement would come back separately.

MOVED BY COMMISSIONER CARTER AND SECONDED BY COMMISSIONER JONES THAT THE PLANNING COMMISSION ADOPT RESOLUTION NO. 2022-P016 RECOMMENDING TO THE CITY COUNCIL APPROVAL OF ZONING CODE AMENDMENT P2022-0234-ZCA RELATED TO OFF-STREET PARKING, BICYCLE PARKING, AND LOADING STANDARDS WITH THE RECENT REVISION TO INCLUDE ADDITIONAL BICYCLE PARKING REQUIREMENTS AS PROPOSED BY STAFF.

THE MOTION CARRIED BY THE FOLLOWING VOTE:

AYES: BARBA, CARTER, JONES
NOES: OGOSTA, REILMAN
